Attack on U.S. Cotton Report By Arkansas Senator Upheld By Orleans Exchange Head

Haynes Denounces Estimate; Says Abolishing Trade in Futures Would Injure Growers.

New Orleans, October 27.—The New Orleans Cotton exchange has used all means available to work for the abolition of semi-monthly crop reporting and estimating on cotton by the government, Frank B. Haynes, president of the exchange, said today in commenting on a statement credited to Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, that cotton reports this year have cost growers not less than $250,000,000.

Mr. Haynes' statement follows: "Senator Caraway, through the Associated Press, has charged that to everyone it must be apparent that intentional or otherwise, these reports this year cost the cotton growers of America not less than $250,000,000.

Claims Attack Unjust.
"I think that probably Senator Caraway is correct in this statement, but considering the fact that the New Orleans Cotton exchange has used every effort in its power to have these semi-monthly reports abolished, and has always contended that they were injurious, not only to the whole cotton trade, but especially to the producer, it seems to me that it is just on his part to attack the New Orleans Cotton exchange.

"Cotton future trading is a legitimate and necessary function of modern business, and I state beyond question of a doubt, if there were no future markets the government's yesterday crop guess would have caused a very much greater decline in the value of the remainder of the unsold crop.

Supports Futures Trading.
"Several states passed laws calculated to curb the cotton trade, but they have acknowledged their error and revoked same. The state of Texas has only recently replaced its laws, however, in any effort to curb the cotton trade, but one that meets modern necessities.

"Senator Caraway undoubtedly considers himself a friend of the farmer, but he would do a very great injury to the cotton farmer if he could succeed in abolishing cotton trading in futures. We are heartily in accord with him, however, in any effort to make to abolish the government's semi-monthly crop guesses."

Rhineland Suit Fought by Wife
White Plains, N. Y., October 27.—The alliance of Leonard Kip Rhineland, offspring of a wealthy and illustrious New York family, with Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of a colored taxi driver, was aired further in supreme court Tuesday and it was definitely announced that Leonard Kip had been disinherited by an indignant father.

Isaac N. Mills, chief counsel for the young husband and a former supreme court justice, who revealed Leonard Kip's hard luck, also declared that the defendant, in her husband's suit for annulment of their marriage, would make no attempt to dispute the allegation that she had negro blood.

Grounds for Fight.
Counsel for the wife made no attempt to deny the allegation that it was assumed that her fight to remain Leonard Kip's wife would be made on the ground that she had not deceived him as to the matter of the negro blood. Rhineland's suit charges "fraud" on this ground and it appears that the defense will seek to prove that he knew the facts before the marriage.

Tuesday's hearing concerned the judge's application for $15,000 in increased counsel fees, pending trial of the annulment action.

Mills, fighting the application, said Rhineland's estate did not exceed $250,000, that he had been disinherited by his millionaire father, Philip Rhineland, after once being regarded as the only heir, and that his only chance of getting additional funds rested in the death of his father, when Leonard Kip would receive $300,000 over which his father had no disposing control.

$20,000 in Probe.
Investigations in England and India into the question of the bride's ancestry cost $20,000, Mills said, and now he had proved worthless by the defendant's refusal to dispute the evidence thus obtained.

"The birth records which we found showed that every member of the family had been registered as a negro," said Mills.

Justice McSwain finally decided to allow further counsel fees of $3,500 to the defense with a provision that he would entertain application for additional allowance at the close of the trial. "This case," he said, "is regarded as an extraordinary and difficult one."

BUSINESS RESEARCH WITNESS IS HEARD IN MERGER CASE
Washington, October 27.—(AP)—Minority stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad who object to the Van Sweringen Nickel Plate merger project, virtually concluded their case before the interstate commerce commission today and gave way to a similar group of Hocking Valley stockholders.

George Cole Scott, of Richmond, Va., chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio minority committee, whose cross-examination was begun yesterday, continued on the stand for a while today, reiterating his contention that this plan was unfair to Chesapeake and Ohio stockholders, and then E. C. Bailey, counsel for the Hocking Valley interests, called Dr. Lewis H. Haney, director of the bureau of business research, of New York city, to lay the foundation for a new challenge to the project.

A. A. Cotton, counsel for the Nickel Plate, indicated an adjournment today, but would continue Doctor Haney's cross-examination tomorrow. Only one or two witnesses remain to be heard, and the conflicting interests notified the commission, but after conclusion of the hearings, which have been in progress since last May, the issues will be presented further in the form of briefs and arguments.

Henry Ford, Edsel Ford and Clara J. Ford will take over all of the new securities contemplated. No additional investment will be involved, the transaction being confined to a transfer of existing railroad facilities from one company to another.

ASSOCIATED PRESS MEET OPENS IN ROME

Rome, October 27.—(AP)—Representatives of 30 European news agencies allied with the Associated Press began their second annual conference in Rome today. A message of homage was sent to King Victor Emmanuel. After the meeting the delegates, with several women members of the party, were received in audience by Pope Pius, each being presented by Senator Cappelletti, general manager of the Stefani.

The pontiff alluded to the special importance of the agencies represented, calling them the great voice of the world. He spoke of the serious responsibilities of the news agencies because invaluable public opinion listens to them for quick and exact information.

To each of them he gave a silver medal commemorating of holy year.

Fashion Domination By Church Urged As Evil Panacea
"Wrong doing will become unpunished when the church dominates fashions of the world, for everybody obeys the law of fashion but not the law of the land," declared Judge Frank Jenkins Tuesday night in addressing a banquet of the Men's Bible class of the Druid Hills Baptist church.

Taking "Christian Fellowship" as his subject, Judge Jenkins said that if there be no Christian fellowship then the church is dead. "We must know and love our fellow man," he said. "For without sentiment, life is worthless and empty, and likewise the city is dead. Sentiment rules the world."

Friendship and comradeship mean much to the church, he declared. "And the church is responsible for Christian fellowship."

Colonel Alvin Kierland spoke in humorous stories. Greetings were read from Rev. F. C. McConnell, pastor, who is in Tifton during a protracted meeting.

Music was furnished by the Georgia Railway and Power company quartet, and by Miss Irene Landrum, soloist. Larky Webb, soloist, will D. Muse read an original poem entitled "Down in Georgia."

MRS. J. E. ANDREWS HEADS SOUTHSIDE SOCIAL LEAGUE
Mrs. J. E. Andrews was elected president of the Southside Social League at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the American Rescue Workers' Home, at 306 South Pryor street. Other officers named were Mrs. E. M. Gibbs, vice president; Mrs. R. W. Allen, recording secretary; Mrs. R. E. Rollins, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. G. B. Otwell, treasurer.

The meeting follows a series of meetings for perfecting a civic league to urge abolition of street beggars, the care of the needy and the elimination of vice, according to Mrs. Andrews.

There were about 150 present from every part of the city and addresses were delivered by prominent women on the betterment of social conditions in Atlanta.

Activities of the league for the present will be confined to the south side but later it is expected to branch out and cover the entire city, officials said. They expect to apply for a charter and organize centers in every section. The league is supported by several of the city's civic organizations, it is stated.

Meetings will be held regularly each Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock at headquarters, 306 South Pryor street.

Harris Protests Warehouse Insurance Cancellation Rates
Washington, October 27.—(AP)—Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, today protested to Representatives of large insurance companies over what he termed discrimination against federal warehouses on pro rata cancellation of insurance charges. He asked that consideration be given in pro rata cancellations on blanket policies in line with that accorded other warehouses.

"The federal reserve banks," the senator said, "extend highest consideration in making loans and advances on products stored in the federal warehouses, obtaining a low rate of interest and other desirable features, including cheaper insurance, but the insurance companies to cover product stores in federal warehouses."

Texans Relate Tale of Violence In Craya, Peru

New York, October 27.—(AP)—Charging they had been mistreated by the police and a mob in Craya, Peru, because of suspected sympathy with Chile, in the Tacna-Arica dispute, Ernest Colwell, of Peas, Texas, and Gladstone Gillette, of San Francisco, arrived today aboard the Pacific Steam Navigation liner Elbro. The men, who claim American citizenship, said they were kept in prison for three days and only escaped mob violence with the aid of a Peruvian guard of 35 soldiers.

Gillette said he and Colwell were guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Condon, English citizens, when the four were arrested on September 23 and thrown into prison. Here they were shackled with iron loops in such a way that their only way of resting was to sit down with their feet six inches from the floor. They were kept in this position, he said, in a freezing temperature while every effort was made to force them to confess hostile actions against Peru.

Gillette said they were kept in jail three days while a mob of Peruvians surrounded the building and tried to gain entrance to assault them. At length they were taken under guard of Peruvian soldiers to Callao and turned over to the American consul. Mr. and Mrs. Condon went to Chile and Gillette and Colwell started for their homes.

"We were in the employ of a copper mining company," Gillette said. "There were about 200 Americans employed with us and we were very careful not to discuss the Tacna-Arica controversy, and to this day do not know why we were arrested and treated as we were."

Colwell added: "The Peruvians are the most suspicious people in the world, every look or gesture by an American, now that General Pershing is attempting to arbitrate the Tacna-Arica dispute, is interpreted as hostile to them. We hoped that when we took our case up with the American consul at Callao that he would file complaint with the state department and it is certainly our intention that everything dealing with our arrest and imprisonment be made known to the state department."

"Our case has been kept quiet and suppressed when it should have been given wide notice. There are thousands of Americans in Peru and none is free from similar treatment if they are not assured protection."

THREE SEAMEN DIE WHILE STORM RAGES
Rockland, Maine, October 27.—(AP)—With three members of her crew missing, the schooner J. O. Webster, St. John, N. B., for Miami, Fla., was towed into harbor here tonight by the coast guard cutter Redwing, which found the vessel today disabled about 100 miles north-northeast of Peaked Hill bar. The missing men are Stanley Brand, son of the captain of the schooner, and Fred Murray and Clarence Jesteron, seamen, both of Penfield, N. B. Captain Berwyn Bradford reported that his son was washed overboard during a storm while attempting to tie up a loose sail. The two seamen went to his aid in a lifeboat and never were seen again. The skipper expressed belief that the men were dashed ashore on the Cape Cod coast.

The Lure of Romance
The story of a woman's love, of primitive fires, smouldering unnoticed, then suddenly bursting into flame.

When beauty was a curse!

As a child her home was perfect. She was happy, gay, loved. Then beauty—fatal beauty—singled her out. Men flocked to her like blinded moths, easy victims of her charms. Then into her rosy idyll stalked a stranger and—

Stripped of their authors' names these frank confessions may now appear in print. Intimate details of life, valuable cross sections of experience, which, whether from pride or shame, would remain secrets forever if it were not for this opportunity to appear anonymously.

Secret scenes from the drama of life and love

WEALTH or poverty, culture or crudity, knowledge or ignorance cannot shield the inner life and command human happiness. Mistakes we all make. All of us have jealously guarded secrets we hope to carry to the grave.

What memories of other days of opulence and luxury lie behind the hard eyes of the yet-young woman you noticed at the night-club? What withered the very soul of that sweet, sad-eyed girl who sat opposite you in the train? How did that man with the strong, kind face get those lines, that haunted and harried look?

No human life is ever lived alone. Somewhere, sooner or later, soul meets soul in the firmament of life. The smouldering fire of love bursts into flames of passion. For one brief moment two human stars flare up unnoticed by the sleeping world. Then all is blackness!

"I am sure I feel very thankful to a friend who recommended Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to me about five years ago," said Mrs. Geo. Richards, of 3507 Tampa St., Tampa, Fla. (Picture above.) "I was then in a miserable state of health. My appetite was so poor that I had no desire for food and I was growing wretchedly thin. I was despondent and had fainting spells. I knew I had reached a period of life when Nature needs help if one expects to enjoy good health after middle age. I have taken ten bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' but every drop of it has been a tonic and a restorer of body and nerves. It is a wonderful medicine and I can't recommend it too strongly to women who would avoid sickness in advanced age."

Immigration Laws Seen As Development Barrier By Atlantan in England

Restrictions Prevent Desirable Persons From Aiding in Progress Here, Observer Declares.

BY RALPH T. JONES.

With tens of thousands of acres of idle land in Georgia and other states and with thousands of English speaking people of the highest type eager to come here an insurmountable barrier to the land, the United States, by reason of its immigration laws, is barring these potential citizens of this country. That is the outstanding impression gathered during an afternoon a few weeks ago in the office of the United States consul at Liverpool, England. The consul himself did not express any opinion on the subject. He told me freely, however, regarding the facts and statistics of his office and there were many conditions self-evident for any observer to see.

Under the United States' quota law only a limited number of immigrants of each nationality may be admitted to the states in any one month. It is, beyond question, the part of wisdom to strictly limit, or to bar altogether, immigration of races not easily assimilated into the social body here, or who are not naturally sympathetic to American ideals of self-government and of constitutional freedom. But that same strict limitations should apply to the magnificent types of English manhood and womanhood that I saw applying in vain at the Liverpool consulate for permission to enter this country, is a self-evident blunder.

Today, if an Englishman wants to come to the States to live and make his home he cannot set sail across the Atlantic for over two years. For applications already on file in the various American consulates in England are already sufficient to fill the quota for the next two years. The waiting list is steadily growing longer. It matters not how desirable the would-be emigrant to our shores may be, the law is no respecter of persons and all he can do is file his application and wait, as best he may, for the two years or more, to pass.

There are several millions of unemployed in England today and of the urge to leave the mother country for the younger and more thickly populated portions of the globe is greater than it has ever been before in the little island. It is, of course, the best types who desire to leave. The idlers and wastrels are content to stay at home and exist upon the "dole" which the British government pays to the unemployed, rather than to cut loose from home ties and make their fortune in a new home overseas.

By the very nature of humanity it is only those with initiative, ambition and vigor who determine to cross the oceans in the hope of finding a new opportunity in a new land.

And, with thousands of these splendid citizens eager to live and contribute their part to the upbuilding of the new American nation, the U. S. government closes the door in their faces and bars them from our shores.

The result of this attitude on the part of America is, of course, not displeasing to the rabid empire builders of England. For the best and most eager of the would-be emigrants, instead of waiting and wasting the two years out of their lives, are going instead to Canada, to Australia, to New Zealand, to the South Africa, where they are welcomed with open arms, helped to start aright in the new home and absorbed into the newer nations to contribute their national heritage of sturdy independence, love of freedom and respect for law to the generations of the future.

Observed Conditions. In the few hours I sat in the consulate at Liverpool over 40 English men and women applied for permits to emigrate to the states. They all turned regretfully away when told they could not get in two years, and of them all there was not an individual who would not, by every reasonable expectation, prove a citizen worthy of whatever country might take him to itself.

And I thought of Georgia, with her population almost wholly pure Anglo-Saxon, with her untold wealth in uncultivated soil; I thought how these men and women would be a boon to the Empire state of the south and helped and encouraged to success and happiness. And I thought of the pity of the situation.

Then, I went across the street to the office of the Australian government and found that with the doors of Australia open to all Englishmen that great nation was going even further with its invitation to immigrants. For it was offering a certain number of free passages from England to Australia to competent agriculturists each year, with the pledge of a year's free training in an agricultural college after they landed, in order to acquaint them with farming methods there, give them time to adjust themselves to new surroundings and fit them for conditions and success in their new homes.

WALDRIP CLEARED OF MURDER CHARGE

he opened the door that Waldrif received his injuries and when he fired the shots that killed Lankford, it was brought out.

Mrs. Johnson was placed on the stand following her husband. She corroborated his statements.

Dr. L. B. Clark, physician at Grady hospital, was introduced by the state. He testified that Lankford died about 15 minutes after he was brought to the hospital suffering from gunshot wounds. One of the bullets penetrated above the heart and the second just below the heart. They entered the body from the front and went straight back. He testified the bullet which entered above the heart was extracted by Dr. Clark while the bullet below the heart went through the entire body, coming out in the back. Dr. Clark testified. The state rested here shortly after 2 o'clock.

The defense did not place any witnesses on the stand but introduced the defendant who made his statement.

Waldrif's Statement. Waldrif said he saw Gilbert during the day on which the murder occurred and asked Gilbert to accompany him to Grady hospital, adding that he wanted Mrs. Gilbert to go. Gilbert did not go because she had some sewing to do, Waldrif said. She started to Lakewood, Waldrif thought of something which Paul Johnson had asked him to do and suggested that they go to Johnson's home on Garrett street, where the shooting occurred.

Gilbert went to Johnson's with Waldrif and his wife and when Waldrif and his wife started to enter the residence Gilbert asked to go in with them, Waldrif said. When they got into the house and were shown to the reception room they found that Johnson had not come home as they decided to wait for him, according to Waldrif.

Johnson came in a few minutes later. Something was said about Lankford and Waldrif said he did not go to the residence to see Lankford. Johnson went out of the room and brought Lankford in with him. Lankford could not have been in bed and got dressed so quickly, Waldrif asserted.

"Gilbert and Lankford got in an argument in the room and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and I tried to keep them from arguing. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson put the two men out of the door into the hall. Then two or three shots were fired. Mrs. Johnson asked me to see if I couldn't stop the fight," Waldrif stated.

As I opened the door and stepped into the hall, Lankford turned and shot at me. The first shot missed and the second hit. Waldrif declared. Waldrif said he dropped to the floor and Lankford stood over him.

"What would you gentlemen do?" Waldrif asked the jury.

"I pulled my gun out of my pocket and shot that man," Waldrif asserted. Johnsons Retaliated.

After the defense rested Assistant Solicitor John T. Hudson who is leading the prosecution recalled Mr. and Mrs. Johnson who were asked:

"Did Waldrif make any effort to stop the fight?"

To this question both witnesses answered in the negative.

Arguments were heard shortly after 3 o'clock with the defense closing the defense, opening. Arguments were limited to 45 minutes. Attorney Ewing used only approximately 20 minutes.

His argument was followed with that of Solicitor General W. C. Hawkins, of Fort Payne, Ala., who assisted Solicitor Hudson in the prosecution.

Solicitor Hudson followed Solicitor Hawkins and W. Paul Carpenter, attorney for the defense ended the case with his argument.

Judge Hutcheson charged the jury on murder and manslaughter. The jury had retired to its chambers and was recalled by the court and the judge charged it on shooting at another, a felony and self-defense.

Sitting at the defense table with Waldrif was his wife and small boy. The child was held in his father's arms practically throughout the trial. Directly behind the prosecution table was Mrs. Lankford, mother of the slain man, who wept bitterly.

Final preparations are under way at the City Auditorium for the Old-Time Fiddlers' convention which holds its annual meeting here Friday and Saturday, with a matinee Saturday, it was announced Tuesday by Virgil Sheppard, general manager of the event.

This year's program should be the biggest and the funniest we have ever prepared," he said. "We have more than 50 of the real champion fiddlers of various sections of Georgia and North Carolina and this year will have many new comedy features."

Professor Alexander Meriwether, county comedian, will preside as master of ceremonies and his work in this post is expected to be one of the big attractions of the convention. He will have contests to be staged for various titles to be bestowed at the session of the fiddlers.

Among well-known disciples of the rosin and the bow who will attend the convention are "Laughing Gid" Tanner, Conyers; "Fiddlin' John" Carson, former national champion; J. M. Gray, Tallapoosa, a former title holder, and numerous other stars. PARIS CABINET QUILTS IN CRISIS mission to the United States accomplished little. His interior goal has not prospered. The franc did not steady, but weakened. He planned further borrowings from the Bank of France to pay government expenses—more inflation. He refused to accept the expedient of giving them time on capital as demanded by the left. Caillaux is out, but it is not likely he has finished fighting.

Center on Finance.

Cabinet leaders decided at a meeting Tuesday to give precedence to the question of finance at the opening of parliament. Anticipating vigorous senate opposition to their desire for a capital levy, they will determine when such an attitude is evidenced, whether each group in the coalition would support a movement to dissolve parliament and carry the problem to the people.

Certain factions in the four groups favor Caillaux's latest financial scheme, which virtually would establish a capital levy in principle under an assumed and less hated name, while others favor unequivocal acceptance of a levy.

The cabinet members explained their resignation in a statement saying they were convinced that effectuation of their program would be impossible without the certainty of a stable majority in parliament.

WASHINGTON DIVIDED OVER EFFECT OF FALL

Washington, October 27.—Marked apprehension mingles with liberal optimism here over the effect the fall of the Poincare cabinet will have on the settlement of the French war debt.

No greater diversity of opinion has been expressed in recent years by official Washington on any question in which the attitude of a foreign power towards the United States would be in the balance because of governmental reorganization with its attendant chaos of policies.

The administration declined to be pessimistic. President Coolidge was represented as believing that the downfall of M. Caillaux, who unsuccessfully attempted to bring negotiations for France, will in any way retard ultimate settlement. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was reported as sharing the same view.

Outlook Less Optimistic.

But in other official circles, notably among senate members, the outlook is regarded as less optimistic. Among the lawmakers advocates of the policy that France can and should be made to pay her obligations in full the fall of Caillaux was not regarded with the same apprehension as marked receipt from Paris of reports that M. Edouard Herriot might be asked to form a new cabinet.

Herriot, former premier, declined to accept his financial policy. In these circles, it was suggested that this intention is carried out, the United States will witness its debt settlement hopes "jumping from the frying pan into the fire."

The feeling of pessimism of some senators who, however, declined public comment while the French cabinet problems remain unsolved, followed the news of the resignation of Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee that France is laboring under an "unsound fiscal policy," the French hold that the debt settlement prospects would undoubtedly brighten, if the French had a cabinet in which neither M. Caillaux nor M. Herriot were members.

The French difficulties, it was generally agreed, will have no effect on the Italian debt conversations which start Monday.

Ambassador Fletcher, American ambassador to Rome, was closeted with President Coolidge Tuesday and later declared that President Coolidge and the Italian government are determined to effect a settlement.

DUKE ENDOWMENT FUND IS RAISED

line. This was disclosed today at the first meeting of the trustees of the fund since the death of Mr. Duke. The tobacco magnate's executors told the trustees that Mr. Duke had bequeathed to the Duke endowment fund $100,000, of which $40,000 was to be used in founding a medical college at the university, providing for the education of the poor, the residue going to the university proper; secondly, a portion of his residuary estate estimated to amount to $200,000, in excess of $200,000. Of this latter portion, $70,000 is to be used in the expansion of the university, the income from the remainder being used for the support of the university and 50 per cent for general hospital purposes in North Carolina and South Carolina.

The executors also in addition that the portion of the residuary estate set aside to provide an annuity for Mrs. Duke for her life would at Mrs. Duke's death belong to the endowment fund, thus making the aggregate of the bequests under the will to the Duke endowment for charitable purposes approximately the $400,000 originally placed by Mr. Duke in the endowment when he founded the same.

Resolutions Passed.

The following resolution was then adopted by the trustees who then adjourned out of respect to Mr. Duke's memory:

"My ambition is that the revenues of such developments shall administer to the social welfare, as the operation of such developments is administered to the economic welfare of the communities they serve," thus speaks James B. Duke through the instrument establishing the Duke endowment he founded, and these simple, soulful words express completely the great purpose for which he labored, the sacred trust he committed to our care.

Propaganda Charged.

Attacks upon the navy have been continued by the press, and have done nothing but harm, the navy department will contend.

The spirit of the navy and its personnel is the same which was displayed by sea fighters in the days of John Paul Jones.

The United States navy is leading the world in development of aviation and will continue to develop, highly resolute to carry on as he has planned, believing as he often said: "That from on high his eyes shall behold and his spirit guide," as a memorial of which and of our profound grief in his death and sincere sympathy with his sorrowing loved ones, these outpourings of our broken hearts are spread on the minutes of this board, an engrossed copy presented to his widow and daughter and another placed in the archives of the university which bears his name."

Chester G. Allen was named new chairman of the board of trustees of the fund to succeed Mr. Duke and William S. Lee succeeded Mr. Allen as vice chairman.

Freight Car Derailed.

A Louisville and Nashville freight car was derailed Tuesday night on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis tracks under the Broad street viaduct. No damage resulted.

MOFFETT SPEAKS AT DES MOINES.

Des Moines, October 27.—(AP)—In a fighting navy day speech, Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics, declared his opposition to a separate air force as proposed by Colonel William Mitchell and his support of the plan for an air service as part of the fleet.

"President Coolidge stated the navy's case," the admiral asserted, "when he said what we need is a 'balanced fleet.' By this he meant a balanced fleet on the surface, under the surface and over the surface."

The navy in four brief years in spite of all that has been said, is not surpassed anywhere in its aviation. This is a record of achievement in which the country can well feel secure."

Speaking of the efforts necessary to build up naval aviation and without mentioning Colonel Mitchell by name, Admiral Moffett said:

"We have not complained because we had to fight. In fact, we have rather enjoyed it. We have carried on our fight, according to the rule of the game. We think it more honorable, sportsmanlike and loyal to play the game according to the rule, than to win by the use of extraordinary methods. We have not gone over the heads of the civil administration in an appeal to the people."

tion as a component part of either the army or navy, was based partly on the ground, Admiral Moffett said, that it contemplates "revolutionary changes in the system of administration."

As a matter of fact on the tactical side of the question, he said, "the navy's aviation plans will provide this air force" if funds are made available to carry out the present five-year building program.

With the fleet at sea thus properly equipped, with its own aviation, the admiral said, "we have nothing to fear from attacks by air based on any outlying foreign or neutral possession."

At the same time, he said, in assuming the offensive in war "we must carry that branch of the offensive which relies upon aviation on the backs of the fleet."

"We have gone ahead developing our naval air force by building carriers and planes to fly from them," Admiral Moffett said.

Referring to the Hawaiian flight base of the Shenandoah, the admiral said:

"We are proud of the P.N.-9 and what was accomplished. The Shenandoah and her record, in spite of her loss, and I deplore most not the loss of the ship but of Lansdowne and his comrades, who never can be replaced. We are proud of the unit that went with the Arctic expedition. We are proud of all the navy's achievements in aviation, and we look forward to further success."

A. C. L. ENGINEER SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Florence, S. C., October 27.—(AP)—W. E. Schulz, engineer of the railroad, was seriously injured by escaping steam, C. C. Allen, of Florence, engineer of Atlantic Coast Line passenger train No. 35, which was derailed near Star, near here, this afternoon, lies in a local street where physicians say his condition is extremely grave. Express messenger, D. J. McGee, of Chicago, August 26, is also in the hospital with a fractured rib but is resting easily. Annie Bailey, negro, of Florence, Ala., who was in the train of Arkansas, was brought to a hospital here suffering from minor injuries.

The wreck occurred when the engine was derailed and overturned while passing over a switch. Belief that the switch had been tampered with was expressed by officials here and bloodhounds are being used in an effort to trail the suspects.

Besides the engine, the express and mail cars were turned over. The engine cab, the two cars and one end of the first coach, reserved for negroes, caught fire and were practically destroyed.

VIADUCT INTERESTS TO CONFER FRIDAY

Further consideration will be given the proposed $1,400,000 plan for constructing viaducts over the railroad at Pryor street and Central avenue at a meeting Friday of the special subcommittee appointed to handle the matter. The meeting will be attended by a personal representative of W. R. Cole, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad.

News of the coming of the railroad officials was received Tuesday by Mayor Walter A. Sims, chairman of the subcommittee. Mayor Sims said he was not informed as to the authority of the representative of Mr. Cole but said he thought the representative would be clothed with full authority to close up final details.

The $1,400,000 plan was approved by a special committee of members of council and representatives of other interests connected with the construction of the viaducts at a meeting Monday.

Mayor Sims said he believed the plans as approved by the special committee will be accepted by the railroad and also by the committee representing the state of Georgia, which owns the railroad property.

Engineer W. E. Schulz, of Memphis, will be present at the conference and will outline details of the viaduct plan.

If the plans are approved Friday the work can begin at once. Engineer Schulz said about one year's time would be required to finish the project by working night and day shifts. The plan accepted provides viaducts over the tracks on Central avenue and Pryor street; leveling of Pryor street from Whitehall to Central avenue; construction of a 50-foot street on the site of the present alley from Decatur street to Wall street back of the Southern hotel and the erection of two street levels on Wall street between Pryor and Central avenue.

GEORGIAN AT HELM IN SUB COLLISION

the 8-to-12 watch and had taken the wheel himself, he said the other two men available for pilot duty at the time were "rather inexperienced."

Lookout Adamson, stationed on the bow of the Rome, reported a light on the starboard at 10:02 p. m. Dreier said. At that time, he judged, the light was approximately three miles away.

The distant light was pointed out to Captain Diehl when the commander of the ship entered the pilot house two minutes after it was first seen. The relative position of the light, Dreier said, remained unchanged, a fact which members of the board of inquiry say invariably indicates there is danger of a collision.

A minute or two before the crash, Dreier said, a red light flashed on about eight feet from the white light. The captain ordered "starboard." Almost immediately, however, he changed this order to "port—hard port," according to Dreier.

Asked if the would have sent out an S. O. S. message had he been in command of the Rome, Dreier replied:

"I would have done everything in my power to get other boats to the scene. Some messages were sent out. I supposed some of them were S. O. S. messages."

Captain Diehl is scheduled to take the witness stand when the court reconvenes Wednesday.

WRECK SIDELIGHTS

Memphis, Tenn., October 27.—(AP)—M. A. Kelly, of Birmingham, express messenger, who escaped with minor injuries notwithstanding that the car in which he was working was smashed in the wreck of the St. Louis and San Francisco Sunnyside train today, passed through a similar ordeal at Carbon Hill, Ala., several weeks ago. As was the case today he came through with only minor hurts.

Mrs. Lillian Yarbrough, passenger, aboard the wrecked car, declared the impact when the train left the rails threw children across the aisles, shattered glass and tossed passengers to the floor and between seats. "I have no recollection of how I got off the coach. When I crawled to the ground I tried to stand but stumbled and fell. I covered my eyes. The awful sounds of the injured and dying I'll never be able to blot from my memory. Mrs. Yarbrough was en route from Atlanta to Memphis. She was not seriously injured."

The private car of J. H. Fraser, general manager of the road, served as a food supply for rescue parties and relatives of the injured. It came back to Memphis tonight with the earlier empty train. The train at Victoria also were stripped of food supplies.

R. B. Herring, pilot of the wrecked train, has been a locomotive engineer 25 years. Today's crash was his first serious wreck.

No Bond Issue Election Will Be Called This Year, Alderman DuVall States

Says Forced Decision Without Ample Consideration of Needs Would Be Fatal.

Plans to submit a consolidated bond issue to the voters of Atlanta in an election to be held on the first Wednesday in December virtually were nullified Tuesday when Alderman W. B. DuVall, chairman of the special bond committee of council, announced he would not call this committee to hold a meeting until plans for constructing two new viaducts are definitely given final approval and the exact amount of their cost ascertained.

Under the law, bond issue elections must be advertised 30 days in advance, and as the general election date is the first Wednesday in December, it is believed that it will be impossible to ascertain the viaduct needs in time to call the bond election on that date.

Alderman DuVall said it would be foolish for council to rush to a hasty decision on the size of the proposed bond issue before the exact needs of the city are ascertained. Announcing his support of a consolidated bond is-due program, Alderman DuVall said time and study should be devoted to finding out exact needs of the city and in presenting these needs to the people in the proper way.

The amount needed for viaducts must be ascertained, plans must be prepared for a new city hall and its probable cost fixed and careful surveys should be made of the school department, sewer and waterworks departments and other departments to find what is needed before the bond issue ordinance is presented to council, according to Alderman DuVall.

Will Call No Meeting.

"I shall not call a meeting of the special bond issue committee and shall fight on the floor of council any proposal to hold a bond issue election this year," he said. "I favor bonds and always have favored them, but I believe we should go about the matter carefully before taking definite action."

The special bond committee had prepared an ordinance providing for a bond issue of $12,000,000 for two viaducts, sewer improvements, extensions in the waterworks department, improvements at Battle Hill sanitarium, and for a new city hall.

Mayor Walter Sims has declared he does not favor an increase in the tax rate as suggested by the special bond committee. The mayor favors a bond issue of $5,000,000 without any increase in the city tax rate.

Coolidge Issues Thanksgiving Day Edict at Capitol

Washington, October 27.—(AP)—President Coolidge today proclaimed Thursday, November 26, as Thanksgiving day, when gratitude should be expressed for "many great blessings" which have come to the people during the past year.

"The proclamation follows: 'By the president of the United States of America. A proclamation: 'The season approaches when, in accordance with a long-established and respected custom, a day is set apart to give thanks to Almighty God for the manifold blessings which His gracious and benevolent providence has bestowed upon us as a nation and as individuals.'

"Nature Generous. 'We have been brought with safety and honor through another year, and through the generosity of nature, He has blessed us with resources whose potentiality in wealth is almost incalculable; we are at peace at home and abroad; the public health is good; we have been undisturbed by pestilence of great catastrophe; our harvests and our industries have been rich in productivity; our commerce spreads over the whole world and labor has been well rewarded for its remunerative service.'

"Grown and Prospered. 'As we have grown and prospered in material things, so also should we progress in moral and spiritual things. We are a God-fearing people who should set ourselves against evil and strive for righteousness in living, and observing the Golden Rule, we should from our abundance help and serve those less fortunately placed. We should bow in gratitude to God for His many favors.'

"The nation has been brought with safety and honor through another 12 months, the proclamation said. We are at peace at home and abroad, with the public health good, with harvests and industries productive and labor well rewarded."

Thanksgiving. "Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States, do set apart Thursday, the 26th day of November, next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and I recommend that on that day the people abstain from their work, and in their homes or in their accustomed places of worship devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings which have received and to seek His guidance that they may deserve a continuance of His favor."

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. 'Done at the city of Washington, this 26th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, and of the independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fiftieth.'

"By the president: 'FRANK H. KELLOGG, 'Secretary of State.'

STORIES OF LIQUOR AT LEGION MEET PROBED BY JURY

Omaha, Neb., October 27.—(AP)—Liquor conditions at the recent American Legion convention were the subject of federal grand jury investigation today, police officers, legion officials, prohibitionists and investigators being on the list to be heard by the inquisitorial body.

The 21 men comprising the jury were empaneled today. Routine cases were heard as evidence was assembled in liquid complaints for presentation today.

A film man alleged to have furnished movies for the "40 and 8" hospital, but depicting risqué French scenes, was one of those under subpoena.

Amos Thomas, manager of the Omaha post No. 1, host to the legionnaires, and Amos Thomas in charge of the protest group, were among others summoned.

GAS LIGHT COMPANY BONDS AUTHORIZED

The Georgia public service commission Tuesday authorized the Atlanta Gas Light company to issue $121,000 in bonds, proceeds to be used in enlargements and improvements in service equipment.

Permission also was granted the Western Union Telegraph company to discontinue its agency office at Sharpburg, Ga.

The greater part of the commission's time was taken up with hearing a dispute between the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad and the National Bonded Warehouse, Inc., of Atlanta.

The railroad company, which runs a spur track to the warehouse from the lines of the Western & Atlantic railroad, of which it is the lessee, is seeking to force the warehouse company to sign one of its standard contract forms for users of private spur tracks, which contract contains several conditions to which the warehouse company objects.

It is understood that the chief objection is to a clause which relieves the railroad company of all responsibility for damage caused by fires which may be caused by its locomotives or other equipment, even though the fire may be due to negligence of railroad employees.

This spur track has been the subject of litigation for over a year. It first came before the commission when the railroad discontinued service, as much as the road had not asked the permission, the commission, on petition of the warehouse company, ordered service restored. The railroad carried this issue to the United States supreme court, where the commission was sustained.

The railroad was represented at Tuesday's hearing by Fitzgerald Hall, of Nashville, general counsel for the company, and Henry C. Peoples, of the Atlanta law firm of Tye, Peoples & Tye. The warehouse company was represented by its president, J. F. Monroe, while the commission was legally represented by its general counsel, W. E. Watkins.

Marriage License Clerk at Americus Is Secretly Wed

Americus, Ga., October 27.—Issuing marriage licenses with Miss Ethel Mae Hart has been only part of the day's work at the courthouse here during the past two years, but last July Sumter's deputy clerk, who had slipped one over on her friends and became the bride of Archer Madison Mathis, of Oglethorpe, it was revealed Monday with the announcement of her marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hart.

The announcement came as a complete surprise to courthouse officials as well as a large circle of friends of the young couple, the pretty young bride having been exceptionally busy during the past few months in the discharge of official duties connected with the office of Captain John A. Cobb, Sumter county auditor. Captain Cobb has been confined to his home by illness for two months and all of the routine work of his office has been performed by his deputy, the assistant clerk, Judge William M. Harper, of the city court of Americus.

The groom has been employed for some time by the Seaboard railroad, with headquarters at Americus, and has been an ardent admirer of Miss Hart for several years, their acquaintance having begun while the bride was still a student of Americus high school from which she graduated three years ago.

Mrs. Mathis will make their home here with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hart.

False Affidavits Charged To Former Beauty Shop Owner

An indictment charging false swearing was returned Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury against Mrs. Theo. Bradley, formerly Mrs. Francis Hepburn, former proprietor of the LaFrance Beauty Shop, Inc., located at 94 North Forsyth street.

It is alleged that she swore falsely when she sold the beauty shop to Mrs. R. C. Fuller and Mrs. Rosa McGee Sheets, on August 25. She is alleged to have signed papers stating that she owed no debts other than $913.55 to a supply company, $405 to a furniture establishment and $78 to an adding machine company and that she was "individually indebted to no one in any sum whatever, contracted prior to February 15, 1924."

Her statement, it is alleged, did not contain a correct list of her creditors individually nor of the LaFrance Beauty Shop, Inc., on the date she made, signed and swore to the statement. She was individually indebted to N. A. Perryman in the sum of $1741.29 for borrowed money prior to February 15, 1924, it is alleged.

Muscle Shoals Power Increases Asked by Harris

Washington, October 27.—(AP)—The Muscle Shoals commission met today in executive session and discussed broadly the provisions that will be included in the commission's final report, which must be submitted to President Coolidge by November 15.

Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, called on Secretary of War Davis today and requested that this additional power be made available to factories and enterprises in Georgia and the southeast, which are suffering from low water.

The senator pointed out that the stipulations could be made for immediate withdrawal of the power when the government decided on a permanent policy for Muscle Shoals.

No formal statement was made after the meeting of the Muscle Shoals commission but it is understood progress was made toward getting the dissenting views of the commissioners on a compromise plan of operation for Muscle Shoals.

Chairman McKenzie informed the commission of the president's views following his recent visit to the white house and the chairman hopes to get the full commission behind one set of recommendations and prevent the possibility of minority and minority commission reports.

Meantime engineers are going forward with plans to generate additional power at Muscle Shoals and it was learned at the war department today that four additional power units will be ready for operation on November 15.

FLORIDA RUNAWAYS WANT TO GO HOME

Two young Florida school girls, Elsie Jones, 16, and Hazel McManus, 17, both of Jacksonville, were taken into the matron's ward at the police station for money to take them back to their school books. They went to the police station Tuesday and said they had come to Atlanta with a woman who said a musical comedy was being formed and wanted two girls of their type. After arriving here they found it was a hoax, they said.

Steve Galleis, of 230 Cortland street, was bound over to the state court on bond of $200, Tuesday, when he was arraigned on a charge of possession of 180 gallons of beer before Recorder A. W. Callaway. He is alleged to have admitted ownership of the beer.

DANGER AHEAD FOR CATARRH SUFFERERS

Catarh, Even in Mild Form, Often Leads to Distressing Complications.

Here is a Simple, Safe, Inexpensive and Pleasant Method That Will Rid the Head, Nose and Throat of Catarh.

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable, or no disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as catarh, often producing chronic headaches and deafness, affecting the eyes and voice, and frequently weakening the lungs. You can now get rid of catarh by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy, discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarh specialist.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, berries and flowers, which you smoke in a dainty pipe or cigarette. The smoke vapor is inhaled into the air passages of the nose, head, throat and lungs, and is immediately absorbed by the mucous membranes, reaching its effect in soothing and healing, and as it contains no tobacco or cubeb is perfectly harmless, and may be used by women and children as well as men.

If you suffer with catarh, asthma, catarrhal deafness, or if subject to frequent colds, go to your drug store and get a pocket size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes and prove for yourself their pleasant and beneficial effects.—(adv.)

ADAIRSVILLE BOOSTS 'CHEROKEE TRAIL'

Adairsville, Ga., October 27.—(Special).—At a rousing mass meeting held here to discuss the location of a cross county road from Gainesville to Rome, much enthusiasm was aroused. A glance at the map shows that there is no east and west road through the state north of Atlanta. It also shows the need of such a road.

To the end that all could get together for such a highway the mass meeting appointed R. L. McCallum and O. B. Bishop as a preliminary committee. This committee has decided to hold a meeting in Adairsville October 30 at 10 o'clock and has requested the following citizens who own property owners along the proposed route to form the organization committee: William J. Biddy, S. J. Whitley, John P. Davis, R. B. Conley, W. L. Sutton, C. F. Fugazzi, E. D. Veach, N. C. Anderson, A. B. Bishop, J. A. Price, C. W. Satterfield, O. H. Turbroun, W. P. Whitworth, E. F. Nolan, E. S. Carr, H. T. Johnson, W. T. Stephens, Frank Linn, Sid Stegall, W. H. Dooley, Mrs. Cora Harris, Sam Bradford, Charles Smith, Sam Vaughn and M. L. Upshaw.

Other committees will visit Cherokee and Floyd counties enlisting their support.

The route proposed leads by Waliska, where the famous school for mountain children is located and through Brasley's Gap, a natural passageway, through the Pine Log mountains without steep grades. In fact, the road from the Bartow line on the east to Rome is now an all weather road, with the exception of about five miles.

The people of this section are a unit in saving the Cherokee Trail must and will be built.

GASTON B. MEANS APPEARS IN ALIEN CUSTODIAN PROBE

New York, October 27.—(AP)—John T. King, former republican national committeeman of Connecticut, was a witness today before the special federal grand jury investigating activities of the alien property custodian's office.

George Williams, former attorney for the custodian, and Gaston B. Means also were witnesses, the latter being brought from the federal prison in Atlanta on a writ of habeas corpus to testify.

The grand jury is understood to be considering alleged irregularities connected with payments from the funds in control of the custodian against claims by aliens. Among these claims was said to be the repayment of more than $6,000,000 to alleged Swiss owners from assets of the American Metal Company, Ltd.

The inquiry has been in progress two weeks. Miss Roxie Stinson, a prominent witness in the Daugherty investigation last year, was a witness here last week.

Dated of all testimony has been kept secret.

Paraphrasing Kipling:—"A Six is a Six and an Eight is an Eight, and never these twain shall meet."

You cannot get Six riding and driving qualities in a Four; nor Eight riding and driving qualities in a Six.

Nor, by the same token, can you secure Cadillac Eight riding and driving qualities in any other car but the new 90-degree Cadillac.

Is this mere say-so or braggadocio?

As you well know, Cadillac has never indulged in either.

The evidence is overwhelmingly yours whenever you care to make comparison.

Whether you drive the new Cadillac first and the others afterward, or vice versa, is of little consequence.

The contrast in favor of the new Cadillac will be equally striking in either case.

BULLDOGS SEEM LISTLESS IN TUESDAY SCRIMMAGE

Team Reaches Critical Stage of Season; Tennessee Will Give Hard Battle

Athens, Ga., October 27.—Tuesday the Georgia Bulldogs were sent in a scrimmage against the freshmen, using Tennessee plays, and their showing was poor. The team showed a lack of interest and alertness and a decided weakness as compared with the Vandy game. It is probable that exulting figures in the workout for the punch was missing. Upon Saturday's game against Tennessee much rests. Tasting defeat on two occasions this year, and staging such a comeback against the Commodores last week, the Bulldogs cannot now afford to have chances marred, resting laurels upon last Saturday's feat.

The varsity lined up as follows against the freshmen. Blackbear Smith, center; Hand and Munn, tackles; Huff and Carmichael, tackles; Van Giesen and Woodall, ends; Brandon, quarter; McTigue and Fleming, halves; and Davis, fullback.

"Red" Eubanks, Roy Estes and Shiver are the present members of the varsity, and neither will be in condition for service against Tennessee. Eubanks is a mainstay at guard, where he has cut fine capers this season and his absence will be keenly felt in the forward wall. It had been expected that Shiver's injury in the Yale game would permit his return

TUBERCULAR FUND ECONOMIC PROBES ASKED BY MASONS GIVEN APPROVAL

Macon, Ga., October 27.—(AP)—The Masonic Grand Lodge of Georgia in its 130th annual session here today decided to put on a drive among members during Thanksgiving week for $44,000 to complete the sanitarium at Alto for tubercular children, which it will turn over to the state when completed. Reports showed $12,000 of the fund has been raised. The hospital will be open to all tubercular children, it was announced, and will have a capacity of at least 50 in the first unit.

In the report of the educational committee it was shown that the grand lodge is supporting 13 boys in college.

The trustees of the Masonic home reported that the nursing home for the aged was being cared for in that institution.

The endowment fund for the home was shown to be: Cash, $27,480.90; bonds, $143,635.

It was shown that during the year a total of $11,634.20 was disbursed from the grand lodge for the relief of aged Masons.

No action was taken on a resolution presented to the grand lodge to eliminate the $5 initiation fee now imposed on candidates for the blue lodge.

Membership is 80,000.

The report of Grand Secretary Frank F. Baker showed that 3,000 new members have been taken into the order during the year, bringing the total membership up to 80,000.

It was indicated tonight that the grand lodge will insist upon J. D. Hamrick, grand master for two years, continuing in office for another term.

The grand lodge was called to order by J. D. Hamrick, of Carrollton, grand master, who delivered his annual address during the morning session.

Two former grand masters of the grand lodge were absent. One of these was Dr. James W. Taylor, 91, who hasn't missed a session of the grand lodge in 65 years. When he was serving in the Confederate army, he obtained a furlough from General Lee to attend the session held at that time. R. L. Colding, of Savannah, also failed to answer roll. Both past grand masters were absent on account of illness.

Tonight the master's degree was conferred at the annual session of the grand lodge No. 96, in full dramatic form. This ceremony was witnessed by a large number of visitors, the auditorium being filled to its capacity.

Petrels May Lose Kilgore, Hurt in Scrimmage

FLIER RIDES 245 MILES PER HOUR

Baltimore, October 27.—(AP)—Another laurel rests tonight on the brow of Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, of the United States army.

Late today he captivated his black Curtiss racer across a three kilometer course in the fastest time ever made by a seaplane—245.713 miles per hour.

The mark will become the official world's record for maximum seaplane speed when recognized by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. It was made in a special speed test which Lieutenant Doolittle entered alone.

The dashing army pilot made his premier mark under conditions that were by no means ideal, with a quartering wind raking the course. He drove the same Curtiss racer in which he yesterday won the 350 kilometer Jacques Schneider trophy race in 50:40.36—an average speed of 222.573 miles per hour—in which he turned in a speed of 235.036 miles per hour for his last and fastest lap.

Lieutenant Doolittle, under the Federation Aeronautique Internationale regulations, took the three-kilometer course with a 1300 foot diving start. His official record was computed as the average of four consecutive flights across the distance, two in each direction, to eliminate wind advantage or disadvantage. His statistics follow:

Flight Time for 3 kilo. mi. p. hr.
First out 27.45 sec. 244.473
Second out 27.38 sec. 245.088
Second in 27.01 sec. 248.655
Lieutenant Doolittle's time bettered by nearly 19 miles an hour the speed record of the Supermarine Napier S-4, the British racing seaplane, which, piloted by Captain Henry C. Rand, set a recognized record of 226.752 miles per hour at Southampton shortly before the plane was shipped to this country. This plane was wrecked here in a trial flight.

The Curtiss flown by Lieutenant Doolittle today and yesterday also was the winning plane in the Pulitzer trophy race at Mitchell field where, fitted as a land plane and flown by Lieutenant Cyrus K. Bettis, it crossed the finish with an average speed of 248.975 miles per hour.

AUGUSTA PHYSICIAN HEADS MEDICAL MEN

Milledgeville, Ga., October 27.—(Special).—Dr. J. M. Hull, of Augusta, was elected president of the Tenth District Medical society at a meeting held here today. He succeeds Dr. R. C. Swint, of Milledgeville, superintendent of the state sanitarium. Dr. Richard Binion, Milledgeville physician, was elected vice president and Dr. J. Lansing Lee, of Augusta, secretary.

The meeting was held at the State sanitarium and an interesting program was arranged. Dr. Swint entertained the medical men at a barbecue dinner at the sanitarium at 4 o'clock. Dr. H. D. Allen was host at supper at Allen's sanitarium at 6:30 o'clock.

The commission is now empowered to promulgate this to determine whether the combine has tended to raise or lower prices.

The other investigations ordered by Senate resolutions were: (1) Terminating the number, purpose and power establishing prices and limiting competition of trade associations and farmers' cooperative organizations.

In the case of cooperatives, the attorney general is to investigate and report concerning the growth and importance of cooperative organizations, and the relative efficiency as compared with other distributors, for the purpose of showing the extent and value of the interstate trade in goods and commodities alleged to be unlawfully restrained.

FOLLOW THE BALL With Robert C. Zuppke

A series of 18 articles on modern football written by the famous coach of the University of Illinois, developer of "Red Grange."

No. 16: Duties of the Four Horsemen

There used to be a fine distinction between the backs and little of this remains. In the offense of a team the duties of the four men in the backfield are practically the same or quite different. That is to say, one pair carries the ball and the other pair does the blocking. Frequently a fullback or one of the halfbacks may be called signals, and in the huddle system, which I shall discuss presently, it is possible for a player in the line to call signals. One no longer discusses halfbacks or fullbacks but just backs.

Good backs come in all shapes and sizes. One of the best backs I ever had, Joe Sternaman, weighed 168 pounds and was short and stocky. Another was Harold Pogue, the hardest driving and fastest squirming back I ever had. He was tall and slender and weighed 142 pounds. Both of these players could hit the line and all backs cannot do that.

The ideal back, in my opinion, would be one that contained four of these qualities in this description:

No. 1—Fast and a good interferer. He should be able to throw and kick. No. 2—A good field general. A strategist. One able to size up a situation on defense in an instant and make advantage of it. A cool and steady leader of men. A cool and steady individual in whom the other players have supreme confidence. He should be able to run with the ball, to tackle, to interfere.

All should be able to handle passes. All should be quick starters. Backs that get away quickly are the most desirable.

Positions Vary With Speed.

The distance between the back and the scrimmage line all depends on the speed of the back. The slower the back, the nearer he is placed to the line. Slow backs stand from two and one-half to three yards behind the line and fast backs from five and one-half to six yards and directly behind the line. The backs stand in one of two positions, the semi-upright or the distinct crouch. The latter stance is to hide the back from the opposing team.

Two methods are used to feed the ball to the backs. The center may pass directly to the back who is to carry the ball, or he passes to a back who in turn passes to the runner, or in some plays, two backs handle the ball after the center passes it and before the runner gets it.

At all times the runner should protect the ball, holding it so it cannot be knocked or jerked from his arms by an opponent. This is self-protection, but there are many backs who do not thoroughly master the art of keeping a tight hold on the ball under all conditions.

The back must be a quick starter, a hard runner, difficult to knock off his feet and not easily held when tackled.

A good back is one who has his muscular reactions so highly developed that he can include, we may say, the hand he does not see. The nerve centers that control his equilibrium should be so refined that it is a difficult matter for opponents to throw him off balance. He should have an excellent sense of rhythm so he can time his change of direction and run with a baffling change of pace.

Inches Count.

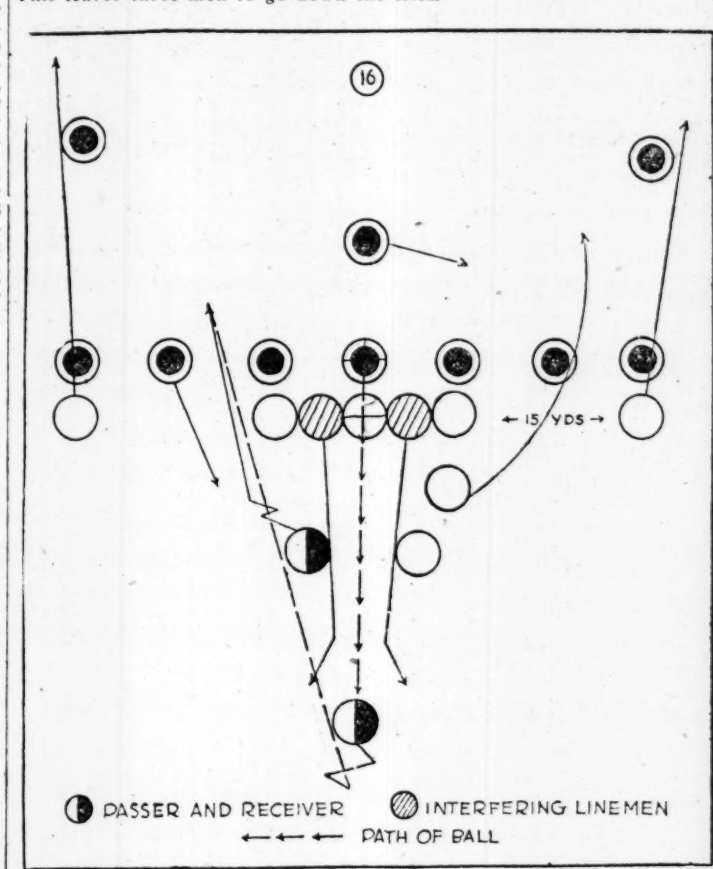

He must have enough native cunning to hide his intentions as long as possible and must be coached to employ his talents.

He must never permit his mannerisms or stance to indicate to opponents the style or direction of the play while the signals are being given.

He must be under way instantly with the snap of the ball, run hard

No. 16. Three Receivers

The thrower shifts about in a restricted territory, so as to be able to throw in any direction. Five linemen block and two backs run back to protect the thrower and pay particular attention to men of the defense pointed out to them during the week or during progress of the game. This leaves three men to go down the field.

and low, and not sneak up to the point of the attack. He must achieve great momentum in a few seconds and be able to reach the scrimmage line or almost top speed, and yet with enough control of his muscular power to double up on his speed at the time of contact with opponent's linemen.

Should his path be blocked by a mass of players, he should try either to smash through for a gain or start whirling until he finds an opening or a part of the line that is giving away. Another timely twist or pivot may roll him away from the shoulder and out of the hand of the tackler, bringing about a complete release for a further gain. Should he be so unfortunate as to fumble, he must yell, "Ball!"

The runner must always aim to get the last possible inch, for football is a game in which inches often count for more than yards. The back who can gain his last inch is the back who will prove valuable.

ANOTHER MYSTERY ADDED TO PROBE OF JEWEL THEFT

New York, October 27.—More mystery has snatched up the case of the $63,000 Diamond Jewel.

A crook named "Pock-marked" Dillon, according to police, was produced Tuesday night by Noel Scuffa, the detective who returned the jewels, and told Assistant District Attorney Percora that an Englishman, believed now to be on the high seas, stole the jewels from Mrs. Donahue's hotel room as she bathed one night some three weeks ago. He gave the Englishman's name, but the police would not disclose it.

The police do not place much credence in Dillon's story, although he told the same one several times, to Inspector Fay, Percora and District Attorney Banton. They held him in $1,000 bail, however, as a material witness.

LOAN AUTHORIZED FOR CONSTRUCTION OF 2 CLYDE LINERS

Washington, October 27.—The United States Shipping Board has authorized a loan of $2,500,000 to the Clyde Line for the construction of two passenger vessels to be added to the firm's coastwise fleet operating between New York and Florida ports.

The ships, one of which will replace the "Comanche," recently burned off the St. John's river bar, will cost a total of $5,000,000. The shipping board was authorized under federal law to advance from its construction and loan fund an amount equal to 60 per cent of the value of the ships to be constructed.

NAVY BAND SOLOIST

Juliette, Ga., October 27.—(Special).—The grist mill here and cotton factory across the river of the Juliette Milling company have resumed operations after being closed down for several months on account of low water.

Both plants have a large number of employees.

A large number of sawmills throughout the county have also resumed operations after being idle the past several months on account of creeks and branches drying up.

Due to incessant rains there is plenty of water available in this section for all purposes.

Fort Pierce, Fla., October 27.—The largest will in the history of Florida was admitted to probate in St. Lucie county Tuesday, disposing of the estate of John I. Beggs, formerly of St. Louis. The Beggs fortune is conservatively estimated at between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000.

The bulk of the estate of the late president of the Florida East Coast Development company is placed in trust for the benefit of his daughter, Mrs. Richard McCulloch, of St. Louis, and her three children, John, Robert and Mary-Sue McCulloch.

The will appoints Richard McCulloch, of St. Louis, Mo.; Lawrence A. Ottwell, of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mr. Beggs' personal attorney, and the St. Louis Union Trust company, his executors and trustees, without bond in either capacity.

Particular provision is made for maintenance of "Beggs Isle" (Greenwood, Wis., the beautiful summer home which was maintained for his family.

Robertson's Charges Work To Replace Lost Players; Loyola Is Out of S. I. A. A.

BY ALTON REDFEARN.

Work in the Petrel camp Monday and yesterday carried with it more determination than at any time this season, as Coach Harry Robertson's charges realize the great task before them, and are out to win the remaining games, despite the loss of Parrish and Cooper.

It seems that all the hard luck that can happen to any team is being thrust upon the Petrels. Captain Bob Kilgore painfully injured his knee in scrimmage yesterday afternoon. It was a knock on the same knee that was injured in the Benning game, and was probably hurt worse than before, as he was unable to walk off the field. It is feared that a cartilage has been pulled from place and should this be so, he will be out for the remainder of the season.

The Petrels meet the Loyola Wolves in New Orleans Saturday. The game will have no bearing on Oglethorpe's chances for the S. I. A. A. crown. Loyola withdrew from the association last Saturday on account of troubles arising in regard to playing six of their stars, which the association had ruled ineligible. These men will be used Saturday against Oglethorpe, and according to dope received from New Orleans way, they are expected to dust the Petrels off.

For the past two days Coach Harry Robertson has been putting his charges through strenuous workouts, only stopping when night intervened. He has instilled into them the old fighting spirit; they are coming back strong, and claim that they yet will come out on top in the S. I. A. A.

The biggest problem for Coach Harry is developing Goldsmith and Hutson, the substitutes for Parrish and Cooper. Both Goldsmith and Hutson have fought in them, but are handicapped by lack of experience and weight. However, they are showing up fine in scrimmages and are expected to do nearly as well as their former teammates.

The practice for today will contain the last scrimmage of the week, as the varsity will pull out Thursday afternoon for New Orleans. A long signal drill will conclude the afternoon's program.

Several of the main trunk lines of the state would be connected by the addition of this stretch of highway, the board was informed, and it also would provide a shorter and more direct route to Murphy, N. C., than the present road by way of Neel's Gap, it is said.

The proposed new highway also would serve a large section of territory inaccessible to the Neel Gap road, inasmuch as Unicoi Gap is between 20 and 30 miles distant from Frogmont, or Neel's Gap. The Unicoi Gap road would pass through a large tract of land, which has been purchased by the United States government for a forestry reservation and it is pointed out that federal authorities already have agreed to cooperate in opening up this territory for travel.

The highway board devoted a large part of the day to hearing the delegation but did not make known its decision in the matter.

The delegation included J. C. Dort, of Washington, D. C., representing the United States forestry service; Ordinary J. D. Rice, of Towns county; Charles W. White, of Cleveland; Editor James Davidson, of the White County Courier; W. O. Sparks, of Hiwassee; J. H. Telford, of Cleveland and others.

R. C. MIZELL TO SPEAK FOR WILSON COLLEGE

Waycross, Ga., October 27.—(Special).—R. C. Mizell, of Valdosta, interested in the plans for the proposed Woodrow Wilson college at Valdosta, will address the Waycross chamber of commerce at the semi-monthly meeting to be held Wednesday.

Mr. Mizell's speech will be in the interest of the proposed college.

The police do not place much credence in Dillon's story, although he told the same one several times, to Inspector Fay, Percora and District Attorney Banton. They held him in $1,000 bail, however, as a material witness.

LOAN AUTHORIZED FOR CONSTRUCTION OF 2 CLYDE LINERS

Washington, October 27.—The United States Shipping Board has authorized a loan of $2,500,000 to the Clyde Line for the construction of two passenger vessels to be added to the firm's coastwise fleet operating between New York and Florida ports.

The ships, one of which will replace the "Comanche," recently burned off the St. John's river bar, will cost a total of $5,000,000. The shipping board was authorized under federal law to advance from its construction and loan fund an amount equal to 60 per cent of the value of the ships to be constructed.

A Health Secret Ages Old

which is bringing thousands new vigor and vitality

Centuries before any scientist could explain why, certain springs were known to have unusual health value. People by the thousands congregated at those centers to benefit by these secret properties.

Now we know that those springs are healthful because they are radio-active. Hot Springs, Arkansas, is a famous example.

And the same principles have been developed farther. For the Radium Ore Revigator is, in truth, a health spring in the home. It provides the same radio-active water that you find in world-famous health centers.

Thousands of people now attest the benefits of radio-active water. It means better health, higher efficiency and greater enjoyment of life. But test it for yourself. We ask it as a favor. Try radio-active water for 10 days FREE.

Bring a gallon container to our shop every day for 10 days. Fill it with radio-active water from the Revigator and drink it at home. Start today.

"What Owners Say"

BULL PAINT COMPANY
Greenville, S. C.
October 24, 1925.

I have owned a Revigator for about ten days only, but that has been long enough for me to have the greatest surprise of my life.

After using it this short time, I have experienced a definite improvement in my own case, and four days after I began drinking the water, I passed a large gravel stone from the kidneys, due to the drinking of this water.

My son, who has been in bed for at least four months, with dangerous heart trouble, and other complications, has shown wonderful improvement, since he started drinking the water, as he could eat nothing without drinking soda water to keep down the terrible acid condition of his stomach.

I wish to state at this time, that he takes no soda or purgatives or enemas, and is so greatly improved that we feel grateful to the inventor of the Revigator.

It is agreed for you to use this testimonial in any way you wish, for the sake of advertising.

SISLER AND BOTTOMLEY ARE BEST FIRST BASEMEN

Players Place Hornsby, Collins at Keystone Bag; Dick Burrus Mentioned

(This is the fourth of a series of articles giving the vote by the players of the two big leagues to pick all-league players.)

(Copyright, 1925, by South American Newspaper Alliance.)

Seventy-seven players in the National league voted for Jim Bottomley, of the St. Louis Cardinals, for all-league team first sacker. Grimm, of Chicago, received eight of the players' votes and Long George Kelly, last year's stellar choice, had only five votes.

Kelly led the second choice string with 27 votes. Grimm and Bottomley were given 17 each, and Jacques Fournier, of Brooklyn, drew 14 of the players' recommendation ballots. Pick Burrus, of Boston, and Harry, of the Giants, were in the running with a small number of votes in both the second and third choice groups.

Rogers Hornsby brings added luster to the Cardinals with 90 votes for All-National second bagger. "Pie" Traynor, of Pittsburgh, was accorded 31 votes, Frankie Frisch, the Giants' "Fordham Flash" garnered 17, and Adams of the Cubs, 1.

Frisch won second choice honors with 46 votes, while his versatile teammate, Long George Kelly got 9. Adams, of the Cubs; Stock, of Brooklyn; Critz, of the Reds, and Moore, of the Pirates, received a small number each.

Critz led the third choice selections with 21 votes. Adams was next with 19 and Stock followed with 15. Moore and Rawlings were in the "also rans."

American Race Closer.

The count of ballots for All-American league first baseman showed a much closer race than the All-National one. George Sisler, the manager-player of the St. Louis Browns, won by a comfortable margin over Joe Judge, of the Senators. The vote was: Sisler, 48; Judge, 24; Sheely, Chicago, 20; Blue, Detroit, 16.

While Sisler got least backing in the votes cast by the league players, his lead over Judge, his nearest competitor, was convincing. For second choice, Sisler got almost as many

RIDERS CHANGE HORSES IN SPILL

Paris, October 27.—(AP)—Pilot-favorite in the barrier was sprung, but aside an outsider near the finish was the hitherto unheard of turf experience of Jockey Herve at the English track today.

Fourteen horses were bunched at the Liverpool jump in the October steeplechase, the feature of the card, when Meisner, the favorite, fell. The four riders were thrown heavily and more or less stunned, but Herve, who had the mount on Meisner, extricated himself, leaped upon the nearest horse and went after the leaders.

The shouts of the crowd eventually made him realize he was riding the wrong horse and was riding Souther, a 5-to-1 chance, while the favorite, riderless, was trailing the field. Herve finally pulled up and rode dejectedly into the paddock.

PURPLE SCRUBS BEATEN, 26 to 0

The second team of Boys' High school fell before the West End Bulldogs yesterday afternoon at Fort McPherson by a score of 26 to 0. The Hurricane was helpless at the hands of Burton, who was flinging forward passes all over the lot, netting a flock of white lines at every throw.

Both teams were evenly matched in the first half, but the Hurricane weakened in the second half, giving the Bulldogs 13 points in the last quarter. The ends for the Bulldogs played a fine game, tackling and receiving passes. Fowler, Balke and Shelton were the stars for the Hurricane, doing most of the running, tackling and fighting.

CAREY'S FOUR DOUBLES EQUALS SERIES' MARK

When Carey hit his three two-baggers in the closing game he increased his total of two-base hits for the series to four. This equals a record first made by Frank Isbel, of the White Sox, who made them all in one game in the series of 1903. This record was later equaled by seven other players, including Frank Frisch, of the Giants, who made four doubles against the Senators last year.

Stanley Sets World's Series Record Recently

Manager Stanley Harris, of the Senators, equaled a world's series record that had stood since the first series was played in 1903 when he accepted a total of 13 chances in the fourth game of the recent classic. In that contest the Senators' leader was credited with six putouts and seven assists. This feat equaled the record made by Charles Ritchie, of the Pittsburgh club, in the series of 1903 with the Red Sox. He made five putouts and eight assists in one of the games of that series.

FOUR BOUTS LOOM FOR STRIB

With the busy program mapped out for him—with four big bouts looming—Young Stripling will need only light practice with the mittens to be in perfect shape for the big test to be undergone against George Cook, the Australian slugger, in Columbus, Ga., November 7, according to announcement Tuesday by his proud parent, "Pa."

He boxes Soldier Buck in Memphis, opening a brand-new arena, November 2; Cook in Columbus, November 7; an opponent yet to be selected in New Orleans, November 14, and the first week in December faces the rugged Tommy Burns, of Detroit, in a Grand Rapids ring.

Buck, Cook and Burns are three high-powered fighters, particularly Cook, who in his four months on this continent has shown himself to be a fighter of parts. He carries a knock-out wallop and is one of those clever ducks, they say, who will make Stripling stop his danderest to eke out a victory.

That Cook is a capable ringman is proven by the fact that he is much in demand by promoters all over the United States, and was only after an array of messages had been exchanged by Major John Paul Jones, of Columbus, and Cook that the latter got his price.

Major Jones, who promoted the memorable McEugene-Stripling bout that created world-wide interest, is the man in charge of arrangements for this show.

Cook is not set up for Stripling. Nothing like it. In fact, the experts of the east who have seen him go, are inclined to the belief that he is one of the best looking heavyweights that ever came over to this country.

He will outweigh the southerner by at least six pounds, and his ring career had almost as many fights as Stripling.

Since the Georgia boy has four important bouts staring him in the face, he has buckled down to real business in a local gymnasium. Between his studies at University School for Boys he is putting in some hard lifts.

His next best will be against Soldier Buck in a Memphis ring next Monday night.

FRISCO BOWS TO LOUISVILLE

San Francisco, October 27.—(AP)—Louisville, champions of the American association, defeated San Francisco, champions of the Pacific Coast league, in a free hitting contest today by a score of 11 to 9. The Seals used four pitchers in an effort to stop the batting rampage and the Colonels three. The series now stands, San Francisco 4, Louisville 2.

HANCOCK COUNTY FAIR OPENS AT SPARTA

Sparta, Ga., October 27.—(Special)—The sixth annual Hancock county fair opened with a burst of enthusiasm this morning when more than 1,000 rural school children passed through the gates as guests of the fair association. Numbers of the children are members of the boys' cotton, corn or pig clubs and girls' poultry club, and have exhibits at the fair.

The exhibit building is filled to overflowing with most creditable exhibits from all over the county. The luxurious appearance of the booths one could not realize that a drought had ever been known in this section. Magnificent exhibits are displayed from Culverton, Mayfield, Devereux, Mt. Zion and Linton communities. Several farmers have individual exhibits.

The poultry show and live stock display is the best that has ever been shown here, eclipsing last year, which was considered as one of the best in the state. The prevailing strain of poultry shown is Plymouth Rock and many handsome fowls are on exhibition. The dairy cattle being shown are among the best in the country, some winning prize winners in milk and butter production.

The midway attractions are being furnished by the David A. Wise shows and are thronged with spectators. The fair will continue throughout the week.

SCREVEN COUNTY FAIR HAS SUCCESSFUL WEEK

Sylvania, Ga., October 27.—(Special)—The Screven county fair which closed Saturday night was well attended, and showed a profit for the stockholders. The agricultural exhibits, while not as large as usual, were good, and the individual farm booths were most attractive. G. D. Counts won first prize for best agricultural exhibit, and Walter F. Reddick second. J. L. Beard also had an attractive exhibit. The Sylvania high school won the first prize for the best school exhibit, and Rocky Ford school second.

In the building for the colored people, the farm exhibits reflected great credit on the exhibitors. The first prize in these was won by W. S. Lawton and the second by Hattie Brown.

M'DONALD IS NAMED TO SUCCEED PRICE

Walter McDonald, of Augusta, member of the Georgia public service commission, was elected vice-chairman of that body Tuesday at the first executive meeting of the full commission since the recent death of James D. Price, who was vice-chairman. Orrin Roberts, of Monroe, named to succeed Commissioner Price, sat with the commission. This was the first time Mr. Roberts had served.

Sportively Speaking

By H. C. HAMILTON
This Fight Business. Heavyweight Crop Low. Setups and Howls.

THE hue and cry over conditions among heavyweight professional boxers takes some queer corners in the career of pugilism about the land. The gentlemen who profess the intention of uplift among boxers first say this and then they say that, all of which, figured to a fine point, means absolutely nothing.

There was a commotion because no one would give the Senegambian stevedore, Harry Wills, enough work to keep his wife from taking in washing, and then they matched Floyd Johnson with the dusky challenger of Jack Dempsey.

WITHOUT casting too much of the spotlight's rays on the doings of the New Jersey boxing commission, it must be admitted that almost anyone who knows a thing about the fight game could have told Platt Adams that the lowa heavyweight did not offer even good practice for Wills, and both Johnson and Wills proved it very quickly when they met Monday night. Wills, it will be recalled, stopped the westerner before the first round was over.

New York writers and those in New Jersey cannot hide their faces, close their ears and say they did not have any idea such a thing was going to happen. They must have believed it. Such a bout should not have been permitted. Johnson has been going back for a long time, and he never had a very long way to go to get there.

THE situation really is this among the heavyweights: They are a sorry lot. There are very, very few of them that are good enough to make a showing against the best of the others. Off hand we cannot name five we believe good enough to even consider matching with Jack Dempsey, and that surely must be the eventuality at which each of them is aiming.

We will say right quickly, before we have a chance to count noses, that Gene Tunney, Jack Renault, Paul Benkenbach and, probably, Bartley Madden can take all the rest of the heavyweights without the slightest difficulty.

A FEW years back there was much stimulus among the heavy-mittlers. It began about the time Fred Fulton seemed pointed for a match with Jess Willard, gathered momentum when Jack Dempsey stopped the big Minnesotan in 18 seconds of fighting at Harrison, N. J., reached its crest when Dempsey flattened Willard at Toledo, and then carried on atop the crest of the wave created by Dempsey's victory. It has faded and died from there. The crop of heavyweights is a complete failure right now, and unless some youngster comes along to again put steam into it there will be no harvest.

That is why they cry for Dempsey to fight, and if he should fight and win there still would be a roar. He wants to battle someone who can make him money. That is an assured fact, but are there more than two men to whom the public would give approval as opponents of Dempsey? You are right; there are not. And the names of the two are Gene Tunney and Harry Wills, either of whom would be taking his pugilistic future into his hands in stepping into a ring with Dempsey.

TRUE, Dempsey cannot last forever. If he does not retire he eventually will become so brittle that he will be broken by a good, coming youngster, but so long as there is nothing for him to do, no promoter to put on the battle his standing deserves, "no nothing," you might say, why do not the clamoring throngs take the sensible view of the subject, viz., turn to the roar for a real battle with Tunney or one with Wills, and let it go at that?

In other words, why do the eastern boxing commissioners permit such rank exhibitions as the one of Monday night, and then criticize the heavyweights for not putting on more entertaining encounters? Why do the fight fans jeer at Dempsey for not fighting, and then permit his logical opponents to step into the ring with such frayed and worn-out specimens of pugilistic art as Floyd Johnson? We leave the answer to the reader.

NEGRO ATTACKER OF WHITE WOMAN IS HELD IN JAIL

Asheville, N. C., October 27.—(AP)—Preston Neely, negro alleged to have criminally attacked a West Asheville white woman Thursday afternoon, is being held in Guilford county jail at Greensboro for safe keeping. It was learned here this afternoon. The city was quiet tonight after a period of great excitement following the arrest of Neely yesterday afternoon and another attempted criminal attack on a white woman on one of the city's principal streets last night about 9:30 o'clock. The evidence in this case in police court this morning was to the effect that the negro grabbed the woman but released her when she screamed. He was sentenced to serve two years on the chain gang.

MONUMENT HONORS SOUTH AMERICAN REVOLUTION HERO

Washington, October 27.—(AP)—A monument to a South American revolutionary hero—Jose de San Martin—will be unveiled here tomorrow with the highest honors that can be bestowed on such an occasion.

A statue of San Martin will be presented in the name of the people of Argentina by the Argentine ambassador and accepted for the American people by President Coolidge. This will be followed by a salute of 21 guns and a military parade, which are to take place after paraders have departed so that the honor will be clearly shown to San Martin alone and floral wreaths will be deposited by representatives of patriotic societies and others.

IRISH HEAD THIS WAY THURSDAY

South Bend, Ind., October 27.—(Special).—The men who took part in the Notre Dame victory over Minnesota were excused Monday afternoon after a short workout, but the third and fourth teams were put through a stiff scrimmage by Coach Locke in preparing his men for the Georgia Tech game next Saturday. The long trip means another two-day preparation, the team leaving Thursday for Atlanta. The work of the men in the Minnesota game was encouraging and a vast improvement over the work of the same men in the Army game.

The uncovering of new material, particularly of Farnsien at quarter and Fredericks at center, has further strengthened the outlook of the Notre Dame squad. Both men are sophomores. The line looked much stronger Saturday but work will still be intensive in this department.

DIEGEL WINS OPEN TOURNNEY

Washington, October 27.—(AP)—Leo Diegel, Canadian open golf champion, won the Middle Atlantic open tournament at Burning Tree club, near here today, with a score of 290 for the 72 holes.

Diegel finished 11 strokes ahead of Joe Turnesa, Fairview, N. Y., professional, who took second place. Cyril Walker, of Englewood, former national open champion, finished third with 303, and William Klein, of Garden City, N. Y., fourth with a 304.

Three professional contestants, finished in a tie for fifth place with credits of 304. They are Glenn Spener, of Green Spring Valley club, Baltimore; James Thompson, Richmond, Va., and John Farrell, Quaker Ridge professional.

Injured Players Rounding Slowly Into Form as Game With Notre Dame Looms

BY GEORGE CONGDON.
The mucky 100 yards of the Grant field gridiron took such punishment yesterday afternoon as it hasn't taken in practice this season before as scrubs and varsity alike were brought down with a vengeance in the first scrimmage since Tech's first defeat this year. Coaches clamped down on the Yellow Jackets and ran them through one of their hardest and longest scrimmages.

From the sidelines and the ends of the field the casuals watched the fray. On the sidelines were Captain Wycoff, Tom Angley and Six Carpenter. The lesser casuals, Sam Murray, with a sewed-up eyebrow, and Forrester, wearing an adhesive tape beauty spot over one eye, for instance, were in there clamping up the turf with plenty of vigor.

Of the three in cits, Carpenter showed least improvement Tuesday. Captain Wycoff wore a slight limp, but declared that he felt much better than on Monday. Tom Angley was also much better. Six had thrown away his walking stick, but had the wailing of the three. All members of the Tech squad, except most of the first varsity, were called on for the hard work yesterday. Owen Pool, center, was the only first varsity man to get into scrimmage and he was sent in just before time was called on practice for the afternoon. It was dark when the coaches finally called their men into the showers.

The practice started with ends running down the field under punts and side backs blocking them. Egan showed the best stuff of all in this work. Not once was he spilled by the sideback blocking the ends, while Brewer was spilling other ends frequently.

Rats Held Scoreless.
The work of running down punts lasted for 30 minutes. The final instructions were given the freshmen and scrubs making up the varsity's opposites, and the long, hard scrimmage began.

Forward passes were looped all over the field by the freshmen, and often they fell safely into freshmen jaws.

JOANNA

BY H. L. GATES

SYNOPSIS.

Joanna, a modern shop girl, parentless, living alone, is summoned to the office of Graydon, owner of the department store where she is employed and given a letter addressed to her in care of the store. The letter informs her that $1,000,000 has been deposited to her account in Graydon's bank by a benefactor who provides that his name nor his reasons for the stupendous gift shall be revealed to her. No conditions are attached to the gift, and Joanna is told that she may do with the money as she wishes. Neither Graydon, who is a great financier, nor Graydon's wife, who is a socialite, will advise her. Joanna meets Brandon, a nephew of Graydon. He exerts a strange influence over her and she at times is afraid of him. He becomes devoted to her. She knows instinctively that Brandon is setting a trap of some kind for her. Joanna is thunderstruck when she meets the suspicious of all her own crowd, the other shop girls and her friends, who will not believe that she actually received a fortune from an unknown man innocently. Desperately she turns to John, her school-day sweetheart, who is also poor, and studying to be an architect. John also is suspicious and resents her, accusing her of having fallen to the level of her too-short skirts, her lipstick and cigarettes.

"It was good of you to come," Brandon murmured. "Presently it will not be such a simple matter to win a tete-a-tete from you."

"After a while, I hope, you will tell me what you know and I don't know of what 'presently' is to be for me," Joanna returned, the serious cloud which was never far absent, showing again in her face.

"We shall have to make a new bargain," he said. "That you will accept from me completely that I am only a spectator to your extraordinary circumstances. I shall be a part of them, only as you give me favor. What are you?"

"Please!" Joanna interrupted. "Not now—not just yet! Of course a man always has a list of questions to put to any girl he is just getting acquainted with, at least that's what I've found, and your list is longer than most, I suppose. I've always had the answers—learned them by heart, you know, but they won't fit now. So I shall have to think when you start in. And I don't want to think—just yet. About myself, I mean."

She fell to looking about the room, eyes wandering restlessly, but shining with the inner satisfaction of youth with its setting of the moment.

Brandon had come to her, as they had agreed, in the wake of the flowers she had found, in their tissue box, awaiting her when she returned with Georgie from their gay round of shopping after her visit to Graydon's office. One of the blooms now clung to her waist. Brandon, as he eyed her, compared its delicate perfection with the more buoyant loveliness of its mistress—a loveliness still marred, he saw, by the too elaborately pencilled eyebrows, the banded lashes copied from a screen close-up, and lips that betrayed a new attempt at reserve but still were much too cupid-like. They were accentuations that few would notice in the conglomeration around them, but Brandon was an experienced taste.

For their evening he had chosen the brightest of the fashionable rendezvous where names and distinction of some sort or other are held to be the only accepted essences. The women were beautiful and of the varied pattern that decorates the new age. Debutantes and matrons from the first families, nasal-voiced and red-throated women of the nouveau riche from the last families, and the ever inescapable bery of movie celebrities from none. Joanna had tasted of the gaudy cabarets—they had been the lamp posts along her paths of gaiety. But here—here were women gownned by the master dressmakers of the day, artists of the world of the elect. And the men matched the women. She caught her breath at the originality of this thought—the men matched the women whose jeweled throats and arms shone velvet white against their black shoulders!

And the music—soft exotic strains that laughed and sobbed their rhythmic ecstasies. Jazz, of course, but not the kind she had ever heard. A super-jazz that called to her with its melodies of lulling romance. Her feet were still and her slender, warm-pulsed little body was quiet, but her soul was dancing; the gleams in her deep brown eyes were dancing, and through her brain new sensations danced. Brandon was wholly sensible of the little dramas that flitted across the eager face he eyed so curiously.

"I would like to dance," Joanna exclaimed, suddenly. "Shall we?"

He rose instantly, and swept her into the maze on the floor. Joanna observed that women, when they looked into Brandon's face and recognized him, shifted their eyes quickly into hers. What she saw in their glances puzzled her; she recognized something speculative, as if these women who knew the man whose arm encircled her and who danced as none of Joanna's partners danced, had a common curious regard for his unknown companion. She concluded, shrewdly, that women would profess to not like Brandon, but were secretly fascinated by him. She felt uneasy again, and was glad when the encore finished.

"Now the questions," she challenged him abruptly, when he had held light to her cigarette and then to his own.

Estes-Renfrew Wedding Is Lovely Event at 'Woodlawn'

Exceptional beauty of detail marked the lovely late October wedding of Miss Norma Evelyn Estes and Alan Spaulding Renfrew, which was solemnized Tuesday evening at "Woodlawn," the bride's home in Ponce de Leon Heights. Bishop H. J. Mikell officiated, using a double ring service.

The interior of the home presented an artistic setting with the bridal colors, green and white, used in the arrangement of palms, ferns and cluster of white chrysanthemums. Beside the wide French windows at one side of the living room, an altar of palms and ferns was arranged, with festoons of the smilax studded with ascension lilies forming a semi-canopy above the wedding party. Standard brackets on white pedestals at either side were filled with chrysanthemums and tied with tulle. Clusters of the lilies formed the central adornment of the altar and white satin pillows were used on the prie dieu.

The colonial stair rail was draped in white with traceries of smilax. Chrysanthemums filled the fireplaces, the mantels being banked with fern and lighted with white tapers. Cathedral candelabra with tall white tapers were used to light the altar, only the candles lighting the scene throughout the nuptial service.

Bridal Party. Miss Anna Harwell and Mrs. Charles Christy were in charge of the nuptial music. Both wedding marches were used as a processional, and during the ceremony "Liebestraum" was softly played.

To the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, the bridesmaids entered singly. The first to descend the stairway was Miss Margaret Foster, who was crowned in orchid georgette, fashioned simply, with circular skirt, and basque waist, trimmed in lovers' knots of silver ribbon, encrusted with vari-colored tiny flowers. She wore bands of rhinestones in her hair, and carried an arm bouquet of Premier roses in shower effect, with lilies of the valley and white and silver ribbon. Her slippers were of silver.

Next came Miss Peggy Gosnell, of Chattanooga, Tenn., wearing a gown of lavender crepe, with circular skirt of the same shade, the circular skirt being ornamented with small wreaths of shaded flowers. The fitted waist was finished at the neck line with embroidery of orchid crystal and silver beads. She carried a shower bouquet of the same roses. Miss Mary Brown was dressed in orchid georgette over satin with circular skirt and fitted waist. Two-toned velvet ribbon trimmed the gown. She wore a band of rhinestones in her hair, and she carried an arm bouquet of roses showered with lilies. She wore a bracelet of rhinestones as did each of the other bridesmaids, gifts of the bride.

Miss Evelyn Knox was lovely in lavender georgette over satin, fashioned bouffant. The skirt was trimmed in inserted bands of Venetian lace which also finished the waist. The neck line was outlined in silver crystal beads. She carried an arm bouquet of Premier roses showered with lilies.

Miss Gretchen Estes, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a becoming frock of rose petal pink georgette over satin, made with bouffant skirt and fitted waist. The skirt was of roses embroidered in silver, crystal and rhinestone beads, the same being used to embroider the bateau neck. Her flowers were a French bouquet of vari-colored roses shading from pale yellow to a deep pink, and showered with silver ribbon and ageratum.

Little Miss Alice Brooks, a niece of the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brooks, served as flower girl, and entered immediately before the bride, scattering rose petals from a small French basket. She wore a dainty frock of pale pink georgette over satin and trimmed in inserted lace. A cascade of pink ribbon fell from one shoulder, and she wore the same ribbons in her hair.

Beautiful Bride. The lovely bride entered with her black velvet hat was trimmed in satin and two-flesh pink jasmín blossoms. Her coat was of lustrous green cashmere with collar of ermine.

OLAM AND SALAM

By Louise Dooly

THAT WOMAN who had the temerity to become the sixth wife of the late Mr. Hopper, probably remembered that at least one wife survived Blue Beard and one buried Henry VIII.

Anyway, Hopper only divorces his inferior or different.

ARE the brains and capacities of men and of women basically different? Well, we have just happened upon a pretty delineation of what one writer considers their respective differences emotionally; and what a noted author who is a man calls their actually separate fabric; not only brain and way of thinking, but even down to muscular fiber or nerve tendril.

H. G. Wells is speaking through his character of Dr. Devises, a student of mental quirks and specialist in brain diseases. He is contrasting men and women as students and men and women as workers.

"You'll never run parallel with men, you free women," he says. "So don't expect it. You've got to work out a way that is similar, perhaps, but different. Different down to the roots." Voicing his belief in the actually different fabric out of which the man is made and the woman, "The time will come," he says, "when we should be able to put a drop of blood or a scrap of skin under the microscope or apply some subtle reagent to it and tell its sex. 'A man resists,' he says. 'A man is intractable. He has greater inertia, mental and physical. That keeps him in his corner. Men compared with women are steeper and steeper. Women compared with men are quicker and sillier. Blunders and blunders. The descent of the locusts? Not a circumstance to it.'"

When They Emote. CORRA HARRIS looks forth in her latest book, "Flapper Anne," on their emotional difference.

"No matter how clever a woman is," says Mrs. Harris, "she is subject to one illusion, that of believing herself beloved and irresistible to the man who is sufficiently interested to pay her devoted attention. . . . The only cure for it is the loss of vanity, which is the same to women as surrendering all their sense of loveliness and power. Very few of them will do it. . . . Anne, who was too arrogant an adventurer in life and kept her freedom simply by the transitory nature of her emotions, had never been seriously in love. Her invincible conceit made her impervious to that tender meekness and anguish which is the way love grips and holds a woman. . . . She had only a surface knowledge of men. She did not suspect their catholic natures as lovers. Like most women she believed a devoted lover must be devoted only to her. . . . And then there is a characteristic comment by the author: 'This is a curious trick Nature plays in managing her procreating affairs. She makes the cleverest woman credulous through her vanities, and the most fallacious lover sincere in his approach. Mither and thither among women.'"

Mrs. Harris says that apparently without cracking a smile.

The Florida Gold Rush. Who is going to write the epic of HELP FOR NERVOUS WOMEN

It has often been said that only a woman can understand what nervous women endure. Most cases of nervousness, sleeplessness, mental depression, headaches, backaches, fretting and worrying have their origin in some feminine ailment that will yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, which for over forty years has restored the woman of America to health and strength. Merit alone could have stood such a test.—(adv.)

Rheumatic Pains Are Danger Signals

Bad Kidney Trouble, Even Paralysis May Be Just Ahead of You—Begin Taking Taylor's Blood Medicine Today and Stop the Trouble

You, too, may benefit greatly by taking this long established and thoroughly guaranteed medicine. Don't put it off. Now is the time. Start taking it today.

Taylor's Blood Medicine contains Iodine of Potash and other vegetable ingredients, such as Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Gentian, Wintergreen and Sassafras, which act as a fine tonic to the stomach, while the Iodine of Potash absorbed by the blood destroys the poisonous acids, which lead to rheumatism and paralysis.

Get a bottle of Taylor's Blood Medicine today from your druggist. It will stop those headaches, backaches, pains in the fingers, arms and shoulders, hips and knees. It will bring weight if you are thin and pale. Taylor's Blood Medicine is purely vegetable, pleasant to take, and regardless of how weak your stomach is will tone up your system and make you feel fine.

When rheumatism begins to set in, the first advice of physicians is to "Look to your blood." Bad blood is the basis of rheumatic troubles and the proper way to relieve these is to correct conditions in the blood. Those who have rheumatic tendencies and not the disease itself should take strenuous precautions not to allow the blood to advance into a rheumatic state. Taylor's Blood Medicine should be taken by such people, thereby preventing untold suffering in the future.

"But how can I tell when I have rheumatic tendencies?" ask many. Bad blood which causes running sores, blotched complexion, pimples and other skin diseases show an unhealthy condition. Taylor's Blood Medicine by purifying the blood is a wonderful aid in clearing skin ailments as well as preventing rheumatism.

Often men and women proudly brag that they can tell when it is going to rain by pains in their leg joints and feet. They think theirs an unusual condition. It is not. Such pains caused by dampness in the air demand immediate attention. They are a sign of rheumatic conditions and by blood purification can be prevented. Taylor's Blood Medicine will take your limbs out of the weather forecasting class and make them painless in the damp atmosphere.

Taylor's Blood Medicine is not a new, untried remedy. For over fifteen years it has served rheumatic sufferers in a most satisfactory manner. Previous to its extended sale this prescription was widely used by successful physicians in the treatment of rheumatism with surprising results. Taylor's Blood Medicine now embodies the benefits of over twenty years continual use—twenty years paved with outstanding success in the treatment of all rheumatic ailments.—(adv.)

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

MOST OF THE INDIANS LIVED IN GROUPS OR COMMUNITIES CALLED TRIBES. A TRIBE USUALLY MADE A PERMANENT HEADQUARTERS IN SOME REGION WHERE THE GAME WAS ABUNDANT AND FOOD PLENTIFUL. BUT THE WARRIORS OFTEN WANDERED MANY MILES AWAY ON HUNTING PARTIES OR TO MAKE WAR.

EACH TRIBE HAD TWO LEADERS. THE FIRST WAS THE SACHEM. HE PRESIDED AT THE TRIBE COUNCIL WHICH DECIDED ALL MATTERS, AND WAS CHOSEN FOR HIS WISDOM AND ELOQUENCE.

THE OTHER LEADER WAS THE CHIEF WHO LED THE WARRIORS OF THE TRIBE INTO BATTLE. HE WAS CHOSEN FOR HIS STRENGTH, COURAGE AND MILITARY PROWESS.

THE TYPICAL TRIBAL DWELLING WAS THE 'LONG HOUSE,' BUILT OF A FRAMEWORK OF STOUT SAPLINGS COVERED WITH BARK. OFTEN AS MANY AS FIFTY FAMILIES LIVED IN ONE OF THESE 'LONG HOUSES' AND SHARED THEIR FOOD IN COMMON. EACH FAMILY OCCUPIED A COMPARTMENT WHICH OPENED OFF A CENTRAL HALL.

EACH TRIBE HAD ITS OWN LANGUAGE SO THAT WHEN AN INDIAN MET A STRANGER HE WAS OBLIGED TO CONVERSE BY MEANS OF SIGNS.

Animals Found in Egypt

At the left a man is heating an iron for the use of his companion. Notice how the legs of the ox are bound to prevent trouble.

We have already spoken of dogs being tamed by the people of ancient Egypt. There were also many other kinds of tame animals in the country. First in importance, we may place cattle. Herds of these were kept by many of the farmers. They were used as beasts of burden, and drew plows across fields which were to be planted with grain. The flesh of bulls was used for meat, but there was a custom against the killing of cows for that purpose. Milk from cows was a common food drink. Cattle were sometimes used as "threshing machines." They were driven round and round upon floors covered with wheat and the grain was tramped out.

The taming of cattle in Egypt appears to have been done by capturing wild animals which grazed about the outer edges of the settled part of the country. With the help of lassos and nets set up on poles, cattle were brought under the power of man.

The owners of herds often caused their cattle to be branded with a special mark. This was to make it possible to tell the beasts apart, and also to prevent hunters from slaying tame cattle.

In time of the Nile floods, herds of cattle were sometimes caught in the rising waters. Then their keepers made a desperate fight to save them by rowing or paddling behind and trying to force them to swim to dry land.

Donkeys were also common animals. They carried loads of grain and other produce to market; and peasants sometimes rode on their backs.

Horses were not used in Egypt for more than two thousand years after the invention of writing. They were at length brought into the country from Asia.

Their chief use was for drawing chariots, both in war and peace.

Sheep, goats and pigs were among the other animals kept by Egyptian farmers. Monkeys and the little deer-like animals known as gazelles were kept as pets.

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

A FLUSHED SKIN.

Does your skin grow red and moist after exercise, or in a warm room or during warm weather? It probably means that you are healthy and full of blood, and in that you are lucky. But it is awkward to have a wet flushed skin at a dance, so let's find some remedies.

Some of the fault may rest with your diet which is too rich in meat and sweets. Experiment, if you think this is the case, by eating less meat and almost no cakes, candies and rich puddings; in their place take salads, fruit and vegetables.

Remember that a moist skin must be dried; the natural powder dries it a little, so does the boracic. Any face powder dries the moisture from the skin, therefore is valuable; the compact powder boxes are a boon to the girl with a red face. Don't use cold cream before going out; if you must have it to cleanse the skin, wash off thoroughly with hot water.

Constipation's warnings show on the face—Get sure relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Thousands have rid their systems of this disease with Kellogg's.

Constipation in your body is like dry-rot in timber. It continually weakens the structure to the point of collapse. Its poisons creeping through your system lead to over forty serious diseases.

Pimples are caused by constipation. So are circles under the eyes, and spots before them. So are hollow cheeks and sallow skin. So is unpleasant breath.

Drive constipation out of your system with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Doctors recommend it—they know ing number, the first movement of Beethoven's Concerto in C Minor, was a triumph, a most colorful and intellectual reading. Mr. Hodgson played the solo and Mrs. Van Fleet played the orchestral accompaniment.

At the conclusion of the recital Mrs. Hugh Hodgson served tea and was assisted by Mrs. William Randolph, Mrs. Fred G. Hodgson and Miss Jennie Hodgson.

Prospects of Cold Weather Help Sustain Cotton Prices

WHEAT PRICES RISE IN BRISK BUYING

Chicago, October 27.—(AP)—Wheat prices rose today in brisk buying for a rapid rise in advance in wheat values today. Evidence that stocks of the contract grades of wheat in Chicago are being seriously depleted had much to do with turning the market upward. Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 1 1/2 cents to 3 1/2 cents net higher. New style, nearly the day's top figures, with December $1.49 5/8 to $1.49 3/4 and May $1.46 1/8 to $1.46 1/4. Corn finished at 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents gain, oats quarter to half at 58 cents and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 60 cents.

Impetus for the jump in wheat prices came chiefly from a rumor that a cargo of 230,000 bushels of spring wheat had been ordered to move out of Chicago to an eastern port.

December delivery of wheat here showed a much more pronounced upward swing than was the case with the distant deliveries, May and July. Offerings of December were notably scarce, and general buying set in, both from commission houses and from private buyers.

Corn and oats moved up with wheat. New corn was in much better demand. Meanwhile, receipts of corn today from the distant deliveries, May and July, were light, and so, too, were country offerings to arrive.

Provisions were affected by month-end buying of October ribs. At one time today this delivery ran up $1 25 on account of competitive bidding.

Atlanta Theater.

The "No. No. Nanette" sent sale opens tomorrow for the return engagement of H. H. Frazee's world-famous musical comedy sensation at the Atlanta theater, where it will be seen again throughout the coming week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. No other visiting musical attraction in many seasons made so profound an impression as "Nanette" on its first visit here, and the return engagement promises to be equally successful. The mail order sale has broken records at the local playhouse. Mr. Frazee will again send the same strong cast of singing and dancing comedians, among them such favorites as John E. Young, Jack LaFrack, Madeline McMahon, Joseph Herbert Jr., Myrtle Bortline, Ross Snowden, Pearl LaDeaux, Julie Ring, Adele Clifton and Bonnie Shaw, not forgetting the "Nanette" Male Octette, and the "gorgeous garden of girls."

Loew's Grand.

Offering a big variety show containing almost everything in vaudeville from eccentric dancing to xylophone playing and offered in a fairytale act presented by midgets is the chief attraction at Loew's Grand theater this week. This big act was brought here by the Loew's Grand, the anniversary celebration in progress. Loew's Grand. Three other vaudeville acts and "Exchange of Wives," the Loew feature picture, complete the bill.

Keith's Forsyth.

Frank Stafford, well-known comedian, is keeping things in an uproar at Keith's Forsyth theater the first part of this week where he is appearing, with his talented company as headliners. Also the program includes the act of Edna Torrence who presents something "Alice in Wonderland," a revue presented by midgets is the chief attraction at Loew's Grand theater this week. This big act was brought here by the Loew's Grand, the anniversary celebration in progress. Loew's Grand. Three other vaudeville acts and "Exchange of Wives," the Loew feature picture, complete the bill.

The Rialto.

Rehe Daniels' newest Paramount starring production, "Lovers in Quarantine," is the feature movie on the Rialto theater this week, topping a program which includes "Below Zero," a Mermaid Educational comedy. "Lovers in Quarantine" is an unusual picture—unusual because it is one of the few screen versions of famous Broadway stage successes to come up to the legitimate play for entertainment.

Howard Coming.

Ever since James Cruze produced "The Covered Wagon," the country has been clamoring for another great picture of the old time west. "The Pony Express," which is coming to the Howard theater next week, is the successor to the other Cruze masterpiece. The same man directed both pictures. Featured in "The Pony Express" are four popular screen players—Betty Compson, Ricardo Cortez, Ernest Torrence and Wallace Berry. There is a highly interesting plot which moves along with swiftness and to the noise of thundering hoofs, rattling wheels and the clanging of bells.

AMERICAN WOMEN HAILED AS SAVIORS IN FALL OF FRANCE

Paris, October 27.—American women have been hailed as saviors in the fall of France. The eventual recovery of the national currency was due to the heavy purchases of francs by New Yorkers for final payments on silks, dress goods and the like, which must be made before November 1. These purchases were so heavy that it was not necessary either for the house of Morgan or the Bank of France to lift a finger in the franc's defense.

RADER BEGINS REVIVAL WITH STIRRING SERMON

To lay the spiritual foundation for safely building the great new city sought in the "Forward Atlanta" movement and to form a bulwark in the south for American civilization are the joint purposes of the Rader revival launched here Tuesday night. The revival was the first service held by the famous evangelist at Central Baptist church.

The Metropolitan.

Contrary to most motion pictures, "The Pace That Thrills" at the Metropolitan contains a gripping story which is never lost sight of from start to finish. It is the story of a movie hero who has acquired much undesirable publicity because he refuses to take chances, demanding a double for the most trivial danger. But in the end, all is cleared up happily.

Ben Lyon, Atlanta's own son, is cast in the hero role. Joe Thomas' Saxo-tette is the big-time vaudeville act here who has acquired much music thrill from the stage. Leide's orchestra includes, "Dance of the Hours." A comedy and news completes the program.

Oil Man Charges U. S. Is Given Incorrect Report

Washington, October 27.—(AP)—A charge that conditions in the oil industry have been misrepresented to the government by a committee of the American Petroleum Institute was filed with President Coolidge's oil conservation board by Earl Oliver, of Oklahoma, himself a prominent oil man and a member of the institute.

Only here in the south has the "Pony Express" been shown. The picture which is coming to the Howard theater next week, is the successor to the other Cruze masterpiece. The same man directed both pictures. Featured in "The Pony Express" are four popular screen players—Betty Compson, Ricardo Cortez, Ernest Torrence and Wallace Berry. There is a highly interesting plot which moves along with swiftness and to the noise of thundering hoofs, rattling wheels and the clanging of bells.

Atlanta Going Forward.

"Atlanta is going forward; you will bring your hundreds of thousands of new people here; you will bring your millions of wealth here; that is certain as the dawn of a new day tomorrow."

The committee representing the churches which have joined in sponsoring the revival includes Rev. Luke Rader, Rev. Marvin Williams, pastor of the Wesley Memorial church; Dr. Joe Broughton and Harry E. Johnson, of the Druid Hills Baptist church; E. C. Callaway, of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church; Marvin L. Throver, of the Buckhead Presbyterian church; Joseph L. McDuff, of the Druid Hills Methodist church; Dr. Robert Dement, of Central Presbyterian church; Will E. Hardin, of the Gideons, and others.
